

REFRAMING PSYCHOANALYSIS is a focus for research in psychoanalysis across the Consortium for Humanities and the Arts South-East England (CHASE). CHASE brings together nine leading institutions engaged in collaborative research activities in the arts and humanities, including an AHRC doctoral training partnership. These are the Universities of East Anglia, Essex, Kent and Sussex, the Open University, The Courtauld Institute of Art, Goldsmiths, University of London, Birkbeck, University of London and SOAS, University of London.

It is central to the CHASE ethos that serious disciplinary research is interdisciplinary, and should also encourage emerging fields of study and creative practice. CHASE includes a large number of faculty and doctoral researchers and practitioners engaged in psychoanalysis across a range of disciplines and inter-disciplines. Providing a platform for that research, the REFRAMING PSYCHOANALYSIS website engages with emerging forms of study in psychoanalysis, including experiments in new forms of attention and communication. It will benefit in this endeavour from CHASE's partnerships with leading organisations in the creative and public sectors.

Please follow our news updates on Twitter

Transformed Background Image Credit: Wellcome Library, London

Drawing by child patient. Recto

Pencil and Crayon Drawing 6 June 1941 By: "Richard"

From: Melanie Klein

recto

Collection: Archives & Manuscripts

Library reference no.: CMAC PP/KLE/B.47

Copyrighted work available under Creative Commons Attribution only licence CC BY 4.0 <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>

Share this:

Email

Print

Facebook

Twitter

Tumblr

More